PITH AND POINT.

Get rid of the notion that there is only one man in the world—and that you are that man.

What a different world this would be if the rule could be reversed and rich kin hunt for poor kin in order to help them!

The women don't know it, but there really isn't as much excitement going on all day downtown as there is in taking a cake from the oven.

When a man is hungry and sits down to his dinner it does not make much difference to him whether his wife and daughters are "brilliant conversationalists."—Aitchison Globe.

A Close Student.

"He's fond of literature."

"Is he a close student?"

"I should say so. He never spends a penny he doesn't have to."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

What a tangled web we weave when first we practice to deceive!—Scott.

Generous.

Mrs. Green—John, this isn't a very good umbrella you've brought back to day.

Mr. Green—I know it, but we had that gold handled one a long time. Let some one else have it awhile. It wasn't ours anyway.—Detroit Free Press.
